

CONGRESS RESUMES WORK AFTER RECESS

SPEAKER CLARK DROPS GAVEL AT NOON TODAY—FOUR IS-SUES FACE SENATE
AND HOUSE.

SITUATION AT CALUMET

To Be Taken Up in Session—Government Ownership of Railroads Another Question for Argumentation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Jan. 12.—Congress got back to work again today after a holiday play spell. In the House, Speaker Clark dropped the gavel at noon. The House then passed a bill to amend the act of March 3, 1879, which was enacted in the Senate last night. The bill was introduced by President Marshall in the chair.
Fresh from a vacation which followed nine months of tariff and currency members of both houses returned refreshed and ready for work at a new point in the Democratic administration.

For the first time since President Wilson ordered the special session last April, Congress was without the overhanging influence of any single dominant issue such as tariff or currency reform, to be fought out to the exclusion of other business.

As a result, the work of the next few months in the legislative halls is expected to cover a wide range of subjects. Anti-trust legislation remains as an important factor in President Wilson's legislative program, that being the subject of the most important legislation, as did the bills for tariff and currency revisions.
Four general subjects will embrace much of the work of Congress during the coming months. They are:

Control of trusts and monopolies, including legislation to prevent cold storage manipulation, unfair price cutting, and other abuses directly affecting retail business.

Rural credits, and other legislation directly affecting farmers and land owners, such as good road improvement and federal aid to vocational and agricultural education.

Strengthening of the national defense, through measures such as the "volunteer army bill" already passed by the House; the Hay-Bunckley naval aviation bill, which would give a naval aviation bill to put the naval militia on a war footing; the Hobson bill for a council of national defense;
and the general administration program for a two-battalion addition to the army.

Passage of the annual appropriation bills, carrying more than $1,000,000, for support of the government, and containing many items of general legislation that must be fought over in the Senate.

Aside from these general subjects, Congress will take up early in the session the settlement of labor problems of far-reaching importance.
The strike in the Calumet region has been the subject of much discussion and investigation of the strike in the Calumet copper mining region and the removal of the strike in the Calumet region.

Government ownership of railroads, as proposed in the bill, will be forced upon the members of both houses as soon as they take up work.
In each branch, a bill to authorize the government to build roads in the northern territory has been received.
The bill is a part of a committee, and has been placed before Congress as an unfinished business, where it must be taken up without delay. While the principle of government ownership has been accepted by many, many opponents among the leaders of both houses, some leaders expected that a bill authorizing the proposed development will be passed after a short session.

President Wilson's influence is strongly behind the plan for a system of rural banks and credit associations, and that project is expected to be taken up by the House. The bill will be given to it by the administration. The report of the Rural Credit Commission which toured Europe last year, has been carefully gone over by the President and the bill is taken up. It probably will be along concerted lines such as characterized action on the general currency bill.

With the prospects of a hard congressional session next summer and fall, the Democratic forces are anxious to add the rural credit laws,
and several effective trust statutes,
to the record of legislation which they can go home with. The outset of work leaders in both houses will attempt to guide legislation so that a comprehensive bill can be completed early in the spring, and other important measures will be taken up in time to permit an early adjournment.

Opposition to the so-called "seamen's bill" regulating the labor of sailors, has become so pronounced in the House that a measure before it can be passed. The bill passed the Senate last fall and an effort will be made to bring it up in the House for action at an early date.

Woman's suffrage will also give both branches of Congress a busy time. Advocates of a constitutional amendment permitting women to vote have massed their forces in Washington, and are ready to attack the measure in the Senate and House, aided by many senators and representatives who favor general suffrage and who will advocate some positive action by Congress endorsing it.

The scope of trust legislation probably will not be fully outlined for several weeks. Recent developments in financial and commercial circles have convinced leaders in both houses that effective legislation to without alleged abuses can be passed only under disturbing business conditions. The President and his legal advisors will collaborate with the committees of Senate and House on effective bills that will reach some of the more important phases of the revolution of corporation methods.

Congress has taken up the problems of national defense with unusual intensity since December 1. The investigation into this country's relations with Mexico has made more apparent the weakness of the military system of the country, and important steps have already been made

SUPERIOR WILL VOTE ON CITY OWNERSHIP

Continued Strike Trouble Causes Citizens to Take Steps to Take Over City Traction Company.

Superior, Wis., Jan. 12.—Superior
will vote on the municipal ownership of street car lines next spring.
Continuation of the Duluth-Superior
street car controversy, which began
the strike two years ago, is being
forecasted by many, following the
calling by the city commission of a referendum vote at the next city
election.

The electors go on record as favoring the plan, the commissioners will at once take steps to take over
the property.

This is the second time the Superior city commission has been practically ready to take over the car lines.
A year ago the residents, by an overwhelming vote, decided to adopt the
municipal ownership plan, but the
city commission, during the winter months, has been unable to limit
the indebtedness that might be incurred, prevented. This clause has been amended.

Advocates of the municipal ownership plan assert that the traction
company officials will have none but
themselves to blame, in case the
people vote to take over the lines.
They assert that while the growth of
the city has been rapid, track extensions promised and needed have not been made. Ill-treatment of patrons
by the employees of the traction system also is charged.

Advocates of the street car company is owned by the Superior
Traction company, a branch of the Duluth Traction company, which, in its turn, is a subsidiary of the Twin Cities street car line, which operates
cars in and between Minneapolis
and St. Paul.

DEATH LIST LARGEST IN MONTH OF MARCH

Government Reports Show Fewer
Deaths During Month of June—Tuberculosis Claims Most Victims.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, Jan. 12.—The grim
reaper's greatest harvest is during
the month of March, according to statistics just published by the Department of Commerce.

In a registration area, including
about 58 per cent of this country's population, 76,237 people in the same month, exactly during the winter months, 105,412 people in the same area died during the year, and of this number 76,237 died in March.
The time of greatest health appears to be the month of June, when the number of deaths is at its lowest. In the same area only 60,827 people succumbed.

The most frequent cause of death,
it was reported, was tuberculosis of
the lungs. Violent deaths claimed 48,695 persons during the year. The majority of them occurred in the summer months, July being the heaviest toll.

One strange thing brought out by
the report is that the number of deaths which occurred during the
month having the lowest death rate, June, when 503 persons took their own lives. It is thought by a great many that the many marriages of this month, which are usually unwarranted, and the dependent and unsuccessful swains swelling the total to no
considerable degree.

CROWD WATCHES PORTER TAKE DAILY PLUNGE IN LAKE WATER AT LAKE FRONT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Racine, Jan. 12.—Several hundred people gathered at the lake front yesterday to watch Herman Saethers, porter at a local hotel, take his daily plunge in the waters of Lake Michi-

It was expected that because of the frigid temperature the plunge would be abandoned, but Saethers, attired in a warm bathing suit, made his usual appearance and wallowed in the wa-

Although some forty years old he seems to suffer no ill effects of his icy bath, and intends to continue the practice throughout the winter.

Over City Traction Company.

Superior, Wis., Jan. 12.—Superior
will vote on the municipal ownership of street car lines next spring.
Continuation of the Duluth-Superior
street car controversy, which began
the strike two years ago, is being
forecasted by many, following the
calling by the city commission of a referendum vote at the next city
election.

The electors go on record as favoring the plan, the commissioners
will at once take steps to take over
the property.

This is the second time the Superior city commission has been practically ready to take over the car lines.
A year ago the residents, by an overwhelming vote, decided to adopt the
municipal ownership plan, but the
city commission, during the winter
months, has been unable to limit
the indebtedness that might be
incurred, prevented. This clause has
been amended.

Advocates of the municipal owner-
ship plan assert that the traction
company officials will have none but
themselves to blame, in case the
people vote to take over the lines.
They assert that while the growth of
the city has been rapid, track extensions promised and needed have not
been made. Ill-treatment of patrons
by the employees of the traction system also is charged.

Advocates of the street car company is owned by the Superior
Traction company, a branch of the Duluth Traction company, which, in
its turn, is a subsidiary of the Twin Cities street car line, which operates
cars in and between Minneapolis
and St. Paul.

DEATH LIST LARGEST IN MONTH OF MARCH

Government Reports Show Fewer
Deaths During Month of June—Tuberculosis Claims Most
Victims.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, Jan. 12.—The grim
reaper's greatest harvest is during
the month of March, according to
statistics just published by the Department of Commerce.

In a registration area, including
population, 76,237 people in the same
month, exactly during the winter
months, 105,412 people in the same
area died during the year, and of
this number 76,237 died in March.
The time of greatest health appears
to be the month of June, when the number of deaths is at its lowest. In the same area only 60,827 people suc-
cumbed.

The most frequent cause of death,
it was reported, was tuberculosis of
the lungs. Violent deaths claimed 48,695 persons during the year. The majority of them occurred in the
summer months, July being the
heaviest toll.

One strange thing brought out by
the report is that the number of
deaths which occurred during the
month having the lowest death rate,
June, when 503 persons took their
own lives. It is thought by a great many that the many marriages of this
month, which are usually un-
warranted, and the dependent and un-
successful swains swelling the total to no
considerable degree.

It was expected that because of the

BOOKS IMPORTANT IN UNDERSTANDING FOOD

KNOWLEDGE OF NUTRITIVE VAL-UES OF DIFFERENT FEEDS, MUST BE OBTAINED
FROM BOOKS.

CAREFUL OBSERVATION

Necessary in Learning the Needs of the Dairy, Says Prof. A. B. West in Another of His Articles.

In a previous article (see Gazette of December, 1913), the question of feed for dairy cows was introduced and it was shown that judgment based on a knowledge of the nutritive value of different feeds, and the needs of the different animals was necessary in successful feeding. In order to obtain the best results, the knowledge of the nutritive value of the different feeds we must give careful study to text books and bulletins from books or other matter, but the needs of the different individuals comprising his dairy must be learned from careful observation, for the proper feed for the cow depends upon her condition, her age, whether she is fresh or going dry and most of all upon the amount of butter fat she is giving. On this point Mr. F. B. Mc-Leran of Wrenshall, Minn., says in a bulletin from the Farmer's Institute Book for 1911:

"You might ask me here today
does it pay me to feed my cows grain at the present time. We will assume that milk is worth a cent a pound and that bran is worth a cent a pound. I do not believe any of us could answer that question for anybody else. The only way I could answer it for you, for instance, would be to go to your farm and see your conditions, see your cows, take care of them for a while, and at the end of the week I wouldn't know anything about it unless we had weighed the milk from those cows. But suppose you are keeping a record of what these cows are doing: suppose the cow is giving twenty pounds of milk a day and you are not feeding any grain at all, and you start in and feed her six pounds of bran a day, which you know costs six cents; suppose that in a few days the milk flow comes up to 26 pounds; that shows that from six cents worth of bran you have received six cents worth of milk; but suppose she comes up to nine pounds of milk on your six cents worth of bran, then from your six cents worth of bran, you have received nine cents worth of milk and consequently you have learned from your own knowledge that it paid you to feed your cows bran at present prices." Another factor in successful feeding is consideration of the value of the feed grown on the farm.
The farmer who has alfalfa hay must use to complete his ration for his cows a different combination from what he would if he had timothy hay. Likewise the farmer who has a silo must use other feeds than the one who has none.

As it seems impracticable to publish here tables giving composition of various feeds grown on the farm and the available commercial feeds it is recommended that the farmer provide himself with bulletins from the University Experiment Station, which give these tables, and make study of them. They may be obtained of the undersigned or of the university at Madison for the asking.

An explanation of the terms used in any discussion of feeding is herewith given for the benefit of those who are new in the business. As explained in a previous article all our common feeds contain protein, which is used in forming muscle, blood, connective tissue, etc. and energy and albumen in milk and carbohydrates and fat which are used by the cow to supply energy, heat and fat in the body and sugar and fat in the milk.

Now the relation of these substances to one another is known as the nutritive ratio. For example, wheat bran contains one part of di-gestible protein to 4.1 parts of di-gestible carbohydrates and fat combined, therefore the nutritive ratio of wheat bran is 1:4.1.

The nutritive ratios of feeds is found by dividing the amount of carbohydrates and fat by the amount of protein. Other terms frequently encountered are "wide ration" and "narrow ration." A "wide ration" is one in which the amount of protein used is small in relation to the amount of carbohydrate and fat. A ration containing one part of protein and 5.4 parts of carbohydrates is considered a narrow ration.

Extensive experiments in feeding have been conducted during a number of years by the University of Wisconsin, which show that a nutritive ratio of 1:6 to 1:1 is successful in feeding dairy cows in this section and to be preferred in the northwest.

As a result of these experiments the following has been worked out:
"Each cow should receive as much roughage as she will eat up clean and a portion of this should preferably be of succulent nature, like grass, silage, softening crops or roots and similar feeds, and concentrates or grain. The roughage is further classified as dry and succulent, the former consisting of hay in its various forms and the latter of grass, roots, silage and other juicy feeds."

such a manner as to get the best possible returns.
If the reader is a Rock county farmer desirous of securing the best results from the feed he has in his barn, and ambitious and intelligent enough to carry out his desires he will do the following: First select and purchase the best quality procure text books or bulletins that will tell him: (a) the chemical composition of the feeds he has on hand;
(b) the chemical composition of the available feeds he must buy to supplement his feeds; (c) what experiments have proven with reference to feeding; Third, leave the cost of feeds and how to supplement the home grown feeds to produce the desired ration at the least outlay of money. Fourth, provide comfortable quarters for his cows and give them good care.

The following are bulletins on feeding from which any farmer may learn: University of Wisconsin, Bulletin No. 200, The Selection of Feed for Dairy Cows, Bulletin No. 17, The Relation of Feed to Milk Production,
University of Illinois, Circular

George Irwin, Sr.

George Irwin, Sr., passed away at his home, 1041 North Bluff street, Sunday night at 12:30 o'clock, from the infirmities of old age, after a short and severe illness. Mr. Irwin was born August 1, 1837, and in company with two brothers, one of whom he named after him, came to America in 1853. They located at Gloucester, New Jersey, where he lived five years. He then went to Canfield, Ohio, in 1858, and spent two years there. In 1860 he met Mrs. Abbie A. Lane, to whom he was married, Feb. 11th of that year.
Mr. and Mrs. Irwin then moved to Jackson Center, Wyandotte county, Ohio, the home of her parents, and

and came to Janesville in 1861. He has lived here ever since and lived at his present home for forty-six years. He was a carpenter and worked at his trade in this city for many years.

Mr. Irwin was the youngest of thirteen children and all have passed to the other world, one sister departing the 15th of last November. His wife was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ir-for many months. Up to a few weeks prior to his death he was so active in his business enterprises, that he was considered to be in good health.

He was born in Rock county, Wisconsin, in 1849. In 1902 Mr. Hoskins and his family moved to Texas, where he was a brother of R. W. Hoskins,

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If tongue is coated or if cross, feverish, constipated give
"California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, does not sleep or act naturally, has stomach, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and your child has a well and playful child again.
Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that your bottle is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

INVESTIGATE CHARGE OF GRAFT IN JAILS

Prisoners in Milwaukee Jails Claim Turnkeys Operated "System" With Court Lawyers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Jan. 10.—Investigation started today by Milwaukee courts and the sheriff's office into the system employed in the local jails. When John Opalewsky, charged with wife abandonment, was arraigned in court last week he pleaded not guilty and was asked by the court whether he had an attorney. He replied that he had but didn't know the lawyer's name.

"The turnkey at the jail brought him to me," said Opalewsky. "I gave him five dollars and he went away.
I haven't seen him since."
"Several complaints have been made to me," said the court, "that the appointment of attorneys, which should be made in court, are in reality made in the county jail through the efforts of deputies: it is charged that the deputies ask prisoners for permission to furnish them with attorneys and then send an attorney of their own choosing to the jail. If the client is penurious, then the attorney comes into court and asks to be appointed."
The statute provides the method for appointment of attorneys and in-dicts acting outside of the function provided for them by law.

"This is the first I have heard of such a practice," said Sheriff McGreal, who issued an order forbidding any thing of the sort.

COMMERCIAL CLUB'S WEEKLY GATHERING

Communication From Mayor Received
—Fair Plan is Discussed by Directors.

The weekly noonday meeting of the directors of the Commercial club occurred at the Grand Hotel this noon with President, Jas. S. Fifield in the chair. Secretary Lane read a report of the mayor and commissioners, relative to the standard and light at the west end of Milwaukee street bridge.
In answer to the communication sent to the council last week, in substance the commissioners said that if the standard was found to be an obstruction, etc., by the public and the merchants and best to have it removed,
this could be done easily at a later date.

John C. Nichols and Chas. S. Putnam presented the Rock County Fair proposition, each explaining the good points and possibilities of an event of this nature. On motion the club went on record as offering their moral support of the plan.

C. W. Kemmerer, representing the Town Development Co. of New York was present and outlined the work of his organization with Commercial Clubs, asked that an invitation be extended a representative of his company to speak Wednesday to the directors. It was thought best to delay such a meeting until after the annual election of the club, which occurs February 2, and Secretary Lane was instructed to get in touch with the development Co. later in the year.

THE QUESTION IS, WHO GOT PETEY'S WATCH?

Sport Snap Shots

The dim past in baseball is frequently referred to as "the days when they used to wear whiskers." Not on a little while has our national pastime seen a player with hair on his upper lip or elsewhere, but it begins to look as if we will have them again. The dapper young man of today has cultivated a hairy surface right below his nose and it is said to be quite the vogue. There is no particular reason why ball players can't be stylish if they choose, just as other young men. The lineup of the Boston Braves for world beaters—no one can tell them when it's high time they quit the game. Undoubtedly Attell in his full bloom was one of the greatest fighters we have ever had and many declare him to be the greatest of all. He never wrangled about weight and he laid away the lightweights as easily as he did the feathers. But his day has passed. The moving finger has writ, but Abie can't see that stuff at all.

According to a Washington sport scriver the Senators have an infield that is second only to Connie Mack's Athletics and way ahead of any other in the land. The Washington sport page wizard declares that while the Athletics' infield stand for in advance of all competition in the matter of batting, they aren't so very far ahead of the Senators in fielding ability. In fact, Foster, McBride, Morgan and Gaudil are about as classy a bunch of infielders in the matter of getting the ball to the proper point as we have today. They are an ideal quartet, declares the Washington scribe. The many thrilling double plays they have pulled off shows them to be well stocked with speed and intelligence. Perhaps they can't bat with the Athletics' infield, but they are surely the equal in fielding and have all the other six American league clubs badly faded in this department. All of which might be said to contain a modicum of truth.

Here's a ball player with a soul. Elmer Lober, outfielder for Portland in the Pacific Coast league, declares he will not be advanced to the big league and play with Cleveland. The Naps thought they had grabbed him till Lober said no. "It's better to be first in Gaul than second in Rome," declares the temperamental Mr. Lober.

Well, here's one scholar for Charlie Carr's baseball academy that we've heard of, anyway. Walter Reisinger of Royal Oak, Mich., will enter shortly and expects to graduate a full-fledged big league leaguer. Reisinger played center field for Pueblo in 1910 and, for the past two seasons, has been playing in the Manufacturer's league of Detroit. If he proves an adept pupil and progresses rapidly he plans to enter the professional game again.

the coming season plans to present to us a player with whiskers, or at least with a highly fashionable mustache. George Davis, Jr., a new pitching recruit recently signed by Stahlings, has one and as far as is known he intends to keep it, regardless of any unkind remarks from the stands. Davis is a college man or promise and this in a way explains his beard. Perhaps after he has had the nerve others will follow. And the time will come when sideburns and all the rest of them come back into their own on the diamond.

The popular notion regarding Abie Attell and his chances in his coming bout with Johnny Kline is that Abie is old enough to know better. Coast fight fans are as one in declaring that Attell doesn't seem to realize that it's time for him to quit and that his days of glory in the ring are over. Somehow Abie is unwilling to profit by the example of many who have gone before him. He can't rid himself of the comeback bug and until he is beaten to a comparative pulp he probably never will. The fact that all others who have tried the trick have failed means nothing if not less to Abie. He hasn't pulled a glove on his hand for months, but he tells all who will stop to listen that he's just as good as he ever was. Somehow it's always that way with the one-time

MILWAUKEE BATTLE IMPORTANT TO CHIP

Conqueror of Klaus to Mix With Gus Christie in Milwaukee Ring Tonight.

(By Terry Walker.) Milwaukee, Jan. 12.—Whether George Chip, the Scranton, Pa., boxer, who put the "aus" in Klaus, has the makings of a champion will be decided here tonight when the easterner stacks up for ten rounds against Milwaukee's own Gus Christie before the South Side Athletic Club. Betting today was even money, Christie's local popularity holding up its end against Chip's reputation.

In the opinion of many local fans Chip is the best middleweight since the untimely death of Stanley Ketchel. Frank Klaus, over whom Chip has scored two decisive victories was considered the champion on account of his defeat of Billy Papke, Ketchel's successor, in a Paris arena, and if Klaus' claim to the title was valid, Chip's ought to be.

The easterner has met during his ring career, which began in 1909, practically all of the good middleweights and none of them has bothed him to any extent save possibly Jack Dillon of Indianapolis. Dillon and Chip have met in several unsatisfactory battles, the decision vacillating between the two, but it is probable Dillon has not been down to the middleweight limit in any of the battles.

Chip is five feet eight inches in height and his normal weight is about 162. He is not clever, in fact is the reverse, but under the tutelage of his manager, Jimmy Dime, he has learned to hit from any position, with knock-out steam in either hand. The middleweight claimant's "delayed punch" seems probable to go down in pugilistic history together with Fitzsimmons' solar plexus blow, Jeff's crouch, and Bat Nelson's fighting face. He starts either hand for a vulnerable spot—and then shoots through the other mitt. Pugilism's "hesitation" put Klaus to sleep twice and may duplicate it on Christie tonight.

ESTABLISH SCHEDULE FOR NORTHERN FIVES

Form Basketball League, Eight Strong Northern Teams Entering for Organized Schedule.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milwaukee, Jan. 12.—Organization, the choice of teams and the formation of a schedule was on the cards when the promoters of the Lake Shore basketball team met here today. With basketball enthusiasts from Sheboygan and Manitowoc strongly boosting the new departure in Wisconsin athletics, it was thought that at least eight lake shore teams would enter the league and that a strong schedule of games be arranged for. Two Rivers and Port Washington teams are join-

Cy Falkenberg.

Cy Falkenberg's spectacular performance in the American league last season, after he had once gone back to the minors, has induced several big league managers to pay special attention to the tin can brigade. A larger number of has-beens than ever before will be given a chance to redeem themselves in the big leagues in 1914.

At the THEATER

JANE GORDON, WHO AGAIN WILL BE SEEN AS MARY TURNER IN "WITHIN THE LAW," AT MYERS THEATRE, TUESDAY, JAN. 13.

RETURN OF "WITHIN THE LAW" to be included in its tour.

Bayard Veiller's "Within the Law," which captured local theatergoers when seen here before, will again be the offering at the Myers Theatre Tuesday, January 13.

This is the melodrama treating of modern conditions in New York life, which has caused a sensation not only in the metropolis, but throughout the country. It has provoked editorial comment, and praise from such eminent Americans as Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, who wrote of the play, "All employers of labor, who underpay their women employees, should go to see this play for the lesson it will teach them." The Bishop of Wyoming said "I shall never forget the lesson it portrayed."

"Within the Law" is in four acts and as many scenes. It will again be given here by the same superb cast of players who have scored individual hits in their respective roles on its former visit. The cast includes Jane Gordon, Eileen Wilson, Marcia Mainell, Robert Labor, Daniel Sullivan, William Lambert, Wilson Reynolds and others.

AN ALL-STAR COMPANY.

When one stops to consider the famous artists who will be here when the Sheehan English Opera company gives its all-star performance of a triple opera bill including "Il Trovatore," "The Bohemian Girl" and "Martha" at the Myers theatre on Wednesday, Jan. 21, it is little wonder that orders are coming in from the entire neighborhood. We have paid the price of admission many times to hear one of these artists sing a few songs, therefore, to get the entire group of them together in a popular opera performance is an event of a life-time and it will more than likely see the largest crowd that ever gathered in the Myers theatre.

Headed by Joseph P. Sheehan, America's greatest tenor, and acknowledged the foremost tenor in the English language, a cast consisting of such additional artists as Madame Antoinette Le Brun, one of the leading operatic sopranos of the day, Mlle. Lydia Sturtevant from the Paris Opera Company, whose reputation extends over two continents, and Harold J. Geis, who ranks among the leading baritones of the day.

In presenting the best cast from three of the most popular artists of the day, instead of confining its efforts to one single opera, The Sheehan English Opera Company gives an entertainment far superior to anything which has ever before been attempted along these lines and one which appeals to every musical taste, because as previously stated the acts which are given are the vital ones and most interesting of the different operas.

This will be the only tour of this all-star organization and Janesville is, indeed, fortunate to be one of the cities

PUGILIST ON TRIAL IN OSHKOSH COURT

Indian Charged With Attacking Eighteen-Year-Old Change of Venue Granted.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 12.—The trial of Edward Smith for alleged assault on Miss Margaret Hupfer, said to have been committed here December 3, 1913, began here today before Judge Brownell in the circuit court.

It is alleged by the prosecution that on the night of Dec. 3 as Miss Hupfer, 18 years old and pretty, was returning from the Northwestern road station, whither she had gone to see her friend, Miss Myrtle Broden of Fond du Lac, off on the train, she was attacked from behind by Miss Hupfer has identified Smith as her assailant. According to the police Smith struck the young woman on the head, knocking her down. Miss Hupfer screamed and frightened her assailant away. Then she crawled to a nearby house, where a physician was summoned.

Smith is said to be a half-breed. He returned here from Iowa six months ago. Several years ago he gained prominence in Fox River town as a middleweight pugilist. He has a wife.

At a preliminary hearing here December 5 Smith pleaded not guilty and was bound over under $2,500 bonds to December 30. On that date a change of venue from Judge Goss' municipal court to the circuit court was granted.

SOUND ADVICE.

"President Wilson has wisely broken down several outworn traditions in order to make progress, and he might profitably break down another by inviting the ablest business men of the United States to share occasionally in his cabinet councils. When questions arise calling for the exercise of far-sighted business and commercial ability and experience, as well as diplomacy, why should not some of the strong, successful business men of the country be called in to give their aid? The United States has such men—men who have succeeded honorably in the fierce struggle of business; men who have the larger view of American affairs; men who know at first hand some of the problems confronting us in our dealings with foreign rivals; men who are as patriotic and as disinterested as any statesmen or diplomats. These men know the economics of business, and can point out the way to success in foreign commerce. Their counsel, combined with that of legislators and statesmen, would be invaluable in enabling the president and his cabinet to formulate and put into effect policies which would utilize the tremendous advantages of the United States in competing with its rivals."

This paragraph appeared in a recent editorial in the Washington Post. The advice contained is so practical and full of common sense that the president could well afford to give it some attention.

The little coteries of men in congress may be beyond the average in point of intelligence and ability, but they represent only a small fragment of the brain of the country. The men who are engaged in commercial and industrial life seldom aspire to office, and the nation seldom enjoys the benefit of their advice and judgment in dealing with questions of financial importance.

This class of men are not only ignored by our public servants at Washington, but often maligned and insulted. A short time ago, Phillip D. Armour of Chicago attempted to call on the president at the White House, but failed to gain an audience. Mr. Armour represents a high type of American manhood. He possesses energy plus great executive ability, and has won success, but he happens to be connected with the packing industry, and was a party to the suit recently lost by the government, after a ten year contest, but that is no reason why the president should not meet him as a citizen.

No disclaimer has ever been attached to the name of Armour. It is associated with the life of Chicago from the date of its birth, as a city—not in the realm of politics, but in the broader domain of business and development. Phillip D. Armour conferred an honor on the president, when he called, and was entitled to a cordial reception.

The big men of the nation, the men who have done things worth while, are worth consulting. They are men of broad experience and wise counsel who merit commendation more than criticism.

ONE DAY'S MEAT IN THREE WEEKS.

In three weeks 17,528 quarters of foreign beef have been received in New York. Most of it came from Argentina, though some was from Australia. It was about evenly divided between frozen and chilled meat. It came by way of Liverpool, re-shipping being necessary, owing to a temporary over-supply in foreign markets. The chilled beef sold readily to the coast cities, Boston, Philadelphia and New York taking the bulk. About 150 carcasses of lambs and 100 carcasses of mutton accompanied one shipment as an experiment and as a space filler in the beef department.

Now this total supply of foreign meats, covering an importation period of three weeks, the Valley Farmer estimates, was equivalent to about 4,000 cattle, or barely equal to a day's output of one of the big establishments of five different packing concerns in the United States. Armour and company, Swift and company, Morris and company, Cudahy and company, Sulzberger and sons, could each slaughter 4,000 cattle daily at their Kansas City plants, and the total output of the combined packing plants of these five big firms in 13 cities in the United States would be amassing compared with the 17,000 carcasses that have been supplied by importation in three weeks. Then to make those who believe that South American beef is going to parallel the home market for domestic cattle, it may be said that the five big packers control only 46 per cent of the native cattle slaughtered in the United States.

The Argentine meat is all right as far as it goes, but the supply is too limited to effect the American market. The country paid recently from eighty-five to one hundred and twenty-five dollars for eighteen cows, which seems to be the market price. This doesn't look much like cheap beef, in the near future.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

Talk at the present time of the high cost of living, of the unusual price of eggs and the boycott against this article of food, is merely a repetition of history. The Cairo, Illinois, Democrat of January 12, 1884, says the prices at that time were most unusual. "For instance, a venerable, frozen and bursted egg was 40 cents a dozen; diminished, frozen cabbage heads, 25 cents each; butter, with not enough oil to freeze, 40 cents a pound; beefsteaks, the size of your hand and as tough as old John Brown, 50 cents." This is interesting just now when everyone is talking high prices and demonstrates that history repeats itself.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, of which the Gazette is a member, lectured in New York Sunday morning on "What is News?" at the Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. His talk is most interesting and instructive to those who do not realize what the Associated Press stands for, and is in brief as follows:

"I am often amazed," said Mr. Stone, "at the ignorance of many persons in their ideas of the Associated Press. I was asked at a church some time ago whether Mr. Morgan, Mr. Rockefeller and other magnates were members of the Associated Press. This is absurd. The Associated Press is prevented by its charter from making money."

"There are 900 newspapers that are members of the Associated Press, and each is a censor of the news of the Associated Press. You can easily see that the news must be unbiased and impartial in order not to offend any of them."

"The Associated Press is a fountain of pure news. There are 70,000,000 subscribers of newspapers who read the news of the Associated Press, and it is fair to say that the average press dispatch may be read by from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 persons."

"I, as general manager, would be able, perhaps, to send a corrupt dispatch in the interest of big interests through the Associated Press; but it would be the last time I would ever do it. In fact, I do not believe I could get an article of such character into print. It would be questioned fearlessly by the assistants in my own office."

"Some time ago certain medicines were used largely for suicidal purposes. Through a strange working of the mind it seems that the mention of the kind of medicine used caused others to commit suicide by the same means. The Associated Press, then, omitted the name of this medicine in its dispatches wherever possible."

Upton Sinclair has invited Vincent Astor to become a socialist, and Vincent declines. Vincent ought to reciprocate by inviting Upton to become a farmer, which Upton would not do, for like all socialists he hates work as the devil does holy water.

The next news from London may be that "W. T. Stead's ghost is appearing in vaudeville." Considering the line of talk the ghost is handing out, that's where it belongs.

STATE PRESS OPINIONS.

Calla Tango a Sin.
The Cardinal Archbishop of Paris, Leon Adolphe Amette, admonishes the people under his spiritual jurisdiction that they must not dance the tango—because it is a sin which must be confessed and requires penance. He condemns it as by its nature indecent and offensive to morals. Christians, he says, may not in conscience take part in it.

The weight of opinion in serious circles is against the tango at the present time. Many of the younger set are very much interested in it, but they will make no mistake in this, and in other things, by referring to their elders.

The variety of opinion regarding the tango is partly explainable by reason of the numerous different ways in which it is danced. Certainly it and every other dance is objectionable when danced without due regard for decorum.—Evening, Wisconsin.

Shame.
The members of the legislative vice commission which has been in session at La Crosse this week, ought to be ashamed of themselves, if the reports from that city are true. It is stated that the commission compelled young girls to come before it, one at a time, and answer questions as to their moral character, whether they had succumbed to the advances of unprincipled men, or not.

Think of it, a young girl, confronted by six grown men with a stenographer ready to take down her testimony, being forced to tell of her experiences and whether or not she was respectable.

To be sure, the law which created the commission, gives it the power to compel the attendance of witnesses, but its makers did not contemplate the insulting young girls, just because they are obliged to work for a living. Testimony of that kind is absolutely worthless, so far as a solution of the white slave problem is concerned. The case must of necessity be individual, and the fact that one girl went wrong is no evidence that others have done so. That girls in one store were lured by the employers or by fellow employees is no proof that girls in other stores are so insulted.—Waukegan Record Herald.

Farceful Proceedings.
The results of the state legislative committee's vice inquiry in La Crosse must be unsatisfactory to members of the committee, and if the hearings are of the same character elsewhere in the state, question may be raised of the wisdom of legislative action based on the report to be made summarizing the developments at such an investigation.

For the committee touched only the surface. It raised a number of issues, but into circulation stories respecting many persons and then dropped them and proceeded to the next town, presumably to go through proceedings of the same character.—La Crosse Press.

It Passeth Understanding.
Great state and wonderful citizens. In Janesville they tried to recall the mayor because he was too "light" in his views on cafes and drinking. In Oshkosh they are trying to recall him because the mayor is inclined to go the other way.—Eau Claire Leader.

POLITICIANS RALLY FOR CITY ELECTION

Politics Brewing Strong in Milwaukee With Main Interest in Race for Mayorship

(Special to THE GAZETTE.)

Milwaukee, Jan. 12.—Milwaukee's political marathon is on. After almost a year of nothing to talk about save the defeat of the women's suffrage amendment at the hands of legislators, the loss of the governor's market commission bill, and the discussion of minor political details, such as the tariff, currency, and anti-trust legislation, civic promoters are in their glory again. With the fiery cross of partisanship flashing through the different city districts, and the clamorous rallying to battle on every side, the only thing that remains is the choice of leaders.

It is comforting to think there are plenty to choose from. Several have been penitents of their infantile bid for the mayoralty, and more would-be executives are cropping out every day.

Socialists are rallying about the standard of Emil Seidel, former mayor. Said standard is somewhat battle-stained and tattered as the result of the socialist defeat at the last election, but adherents to the former standard state its potency is in no way impaired.

Grandfathers, who have lost interest in elections, are getting into the game because it seems natural to have Dave Rose with him. After five administrations and a long sojourn of the Pacific coast, Rose still an ardent enemy of prohibition, has thrown down his sage of battle and the deacons are, according to him, everything in the way of superior experience and ring-generals. Whether Rose can muster the old following that made him practically dictator of Milwaukee politics, is problematical. Many will, no doubt, return to the old standard, but there is doubt in many quarters whether under present conditions, Rose could win without the support of some of the old-fashioned faction behind him. This, many say, is exactly what Rose will have.

Politicians, apparently in great numbers, cleave to the idea that the campaign will narrow down to a final clinch between the socialist candidate and those of the other parties, and that a second non-partisan alliance will not. Rose in the chair for the sixth term.

The announcement of the candidacy of the present Mayor, Bading, is expected at any time. In view of the early start taken by the other factions, supporters of the present regime are haunting the office of the doctor-mayor waiting for his word to begin organizing an administration machine.

Besides Rose, Seidel and Bading, there are other prospective candidates, almost without number, but their boomers are as yet too indistinct to have much effect on the early prognostications.

(Special to THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Jan. 12.—The multitudes of Greater New York now have a Daily Temple, the doors of which will never close and in which religions of every denomination and sect may hold services and discussion. The little unpretentious building in East Thirty-second street was made possible by the enterprise and generosity of Miss Knopf and will be open daily and nightly the year through. Catholics, Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, United Brethren, Unitarians, Christian Scientists, Buddhists, Confucious followers, Quakers, Seven Day Adventists, Latter Day Saints—any and every kind of believers will hold meetings in the Daily Temple. It is the plan of the promoters to make the unique chapel a sort of religious clearing house, where devotees of various sects and beliefs may meet and discuss their varying creeds and tenets.

MONSTER CAMPAIGNS TO CLEAR HOSPITAL INDEBTEDNESS AWAY

FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS TO BE RAISED WITHIN NEXT TWO WEEKS.

DISCUSS UNIQUE PLAN

Details of Plans Will be Fully Explained at Luncheon at Myers Hotel on Tuesday Noon.

At a luncheon to be held at the Hotel Myers, Tuesday noon, plans will be advanced whereby it is intended to clear the indebtedness of the hospital of about two hundred and fifty of the best known people of Janesville in a concerted, co-operative effort to raise between forty and fifty thousand dollars with which to clear the hospital of its one hospital of its distressing and crippling debt.

In the past a number of the men of affairs of the city have helped very materially in the financial affairs of the hospital. Several of them were reached by Mother Superior Alphonsus Saturday afternoon and were asked to attend a conference at the Convention on Sunday afternoon. There are present a number of the financial of the new hospital and men who were acquainted with the hospital's financial condition. It was shown that there is now a debt of more than $40,000 with not a cent of relief in sight. It was pointed out that there is no possibility of doing all the charity work that should be done so long as this handicapping debt burdens the hospital. It was shown that even the salaries of those who are able to pay are higher under present conditions than they will be when the hospital is free from debt.

The present debt is cleared, and when a small fund has been provided for the erection of a very necessary laundry, then it will be possible to reduce the present indebtedness to a very small sum. With the debt cleared the hospital will be self-sustaining. There need never be another appeal for public help, which is raised the appeals to help out on deficits in current expenses will be before the people of the community generally.

A general argument was necessary from those in charge of the hospital to inform or convince the men who were present for the conference. As some person's suggestion, G. W. Smith, who was asked to assume the chair. After a general informal discussion of the situation, G. W. Smith moved that the citizens of Janesville be asked to join in a short time money raising campaign for the purpose of raising this money.

It was explained that this is the modern, up-to-date way of raising money for hospitals. At the luncheon there will be fifteen or twenty men who will lead in the campaign. Nearly as many teams of prominent women will also participate. In the past, when there were several men who volunteered to form teams, among them being S. M. Smith, S. B. Hedges, F. P. Croak, Daniel Dougherty, E. H. Hayes, Daniel Hayes, Val Weber, Dennis Hayes, and Dean Reilly. Thomas O. Howe was present for the early part of the conference but left before the discussion of the campaign was started. He, however, declared his belief that such a campaign should be made. He said the people of Janesville owed the hospital a great deal of money. He said that the use of the word "unfortunate" the poor alone, but even the well to do, who are seized by illness and who are otherwise afflicted, are in fact, nearly all of those present, who expressed determination to join in this campaign effort to clear away this debt which is in a plain sense a reflection on the city of Janesville.

The plan of campaign is that there shall be about twenty to twenty-five captains who will head teams of eight or ten persons each. The general chairman of the movement is Mr. Sutherland, who will have the help of all concerned in organization work. The first meeting of the campaign, it is planned, will be held in some large hall on the evening of January 19, next Monday evening. This will be a meeting for organization and explanation of plans. There will be several well known speakers, one of whom will be a representative of the Milwaukee Association of the appreciation of all Catholic interests and to personally assure the people of Janesville that the hospital is not a burden on the city, but that the service will be of the broadest public character.

Following those on the first organization meeting will be the six business meetings of the campaign. The first of these business meetings will be held at 12 o'clock noon, the next at 7 o'clock evening, the next at 7 o'clock evening, the next at 7 o'clock evening, the next at 7 o'clock evening, the next at 7 o'clock evening. Each day thereafter there will be a luncheon business meeting at which all of the workers will meet and make reports.

It was pointed out that these two hundred or more workers shall during the six days of their campaign activity, visit every person in this city, also every person in the neighborhood, and ask for subscriptions for the hospital. The meetings of the campaign workers will be inspiring. The report of the workers will be made daily and no person will be excused from the campaign unless there is some over-sight.

Cash will be acceptable but the principal effort will be made to interest people in making installment contributions. It is planned to make a subscription covering a period of nearly two years. It is the experience elsewhere that persons who usually make a comparatively small cash contribution to any charitable or Christian work are quite willing to make a subscription of eight times the amount when they have the privilege of making installment payments.

Measures were taken at the conference yesterday to clear up the confusion in the past when only a few of them raised several thousand dollars for the hospital. It was pointed out that the work of the sisters built the hospital. But it was made clear that if these men could collect several thousand dollars with only a handful of collectors interested, it would be possible to expect that between two and three hundred workers will be able to collect the comparatively small sum of forty or fifty thousand dollars in the six days allotted to the campaign.

Other representative men will join the men named at the luncheon at the Myers hotel tomorrow and there will be a meeting of the campaign workers at 12 o'clock noon. The plan of the city will be called to discuss the project and the ministers of the city will be asked that the details of the plan may be presented to them also. It is expected that plans will be completed by Monday evening, when the first meeting of the entire organization of campaign workers will be held. The preliminary meeting of the day after tomorrow, the men and women who will assume captaincies will be among their friends and companions enlisting fellow team members.

ed plan may be presented to them also. It is expected that plans will be completed by Monday evening, when the first meeting of the entire organization of campaign workers will be held. The preliminary meeting of the day after tomorrow, the men and women who will assume captaincies will be among their friends and companions enlisting fellow team members.

NEARLY A THOUSAND PERSONS ARRESTED

Janesville Police Department Has a Busy Year in 1913, According to Report.

There were 977 persons arrested by the Janesville police department in 1913, according to figures compiled by the chief of police's office, which indicate that lawlessness has not been entirely stamped out. Of the number arrested, 432 were taken into court and 544 were discharged from the police office. Drunkenness was the principal offense, 559 being taken on this charge. The month of July was productive of 113 arrests, the most in any one month; August 109, and September 103. The number of arrests during the summer time is the open season for offenders. February shows but 46 arrests and January last but 52.

Of the number taken into court there were 407 who were arraigned before Judge Maxfield and 172 appeared before Judge Maxfield, who took office Sept. 8, in December and November there were but 75 in court, which shows a tendency to keep out of trouble, prompted, no doubt, by the success of the commitment law. This is further shown by the fact that between Dec. 24 and Jan. 12 there have been but 24 offenders in municipal court.

But the trail of the serpent may also be traced through the legends of Greece, or for that matter through those of the earlier American peoples.

FIRST ENTRIES FOR POULTRY SHOW ARE NOW ON EXHIBITION

Number Far Exceeds Any Previous Year Even This Early in the Week.

Bigger, better and far more successful, this season's poultry show of the Southern Wisconsin Poultry Association promises to outstrip any exhibition of similar nature in the state this winter. In spite of the change in the weather none of the many entries have been withdrawn and already the number of last exceeded the exhibits of any previous year.

Some of the birds entered are National prize winners and not a few of them are wearers of blue ribbons from smaller shows. Although many of the entries from out-of-town are already in the cold weather will cause a slight delay in the arrival of a few of the birds. Those which were scheduled to arrive last night and this morning did not arrive until this afternoon and evening and will not be placed in their cages at the rink until Tuesday morning.

Over one thousand entries are already in the hands of Secretary of D. K. and more are coming in every hour. About noon today there were several hundred birds in their positions at the rink, all crowding and clucking over prospective victory. About eight o'clock of White Craythorne, one of the first to arrive at the show, then followed many other crates containing Bluff Cochins, "Houdans," Leghorns, Barred and White Rocks, Bantams and Runners. The names of the breeders are not placed on the crates until after judgment has been rendered. Neither is any decoration allowed on the cages. All birds are therefore judged entirely on their merits and a possibility of undue suspicion being exerted in any manner.

The Auditorium itself is toned up with small evergreen trees, and the ceiling is hung with festoons of the national color. Everywhere are long corridors of cages after the cage of the aristocrats of poultrydom. A striking fact this year is that there are more out of town entries than local, some coming from as far as Wykoff, Minnesota.

Many of the local fanciers, however, have not as yet entered their birds but intend to do so later in the day. The Auditorium is kept more than comfortably warm, and the birds which are kept well fed at all times. There is little possibility, on that account of any of the entries suffering from exposure.

TIME GROWS SHORT FOR PAYING TAXES

Seventeen More Days Remain Before Two Per Cent Penalty Will Be Added.

Within the next seventeen days over $214,000 in taxes must be collected at the city treasurer's office if Janesville taxpayers desire to escape paying the two per cent penalty which will be added on and after Feb. 1st. Of the $278,653 in state, city and county taxes to be raised in Janesville, which will include the cash city taxes, only $87,763 has been paid when the books were closed on Saturday night. This means an unusual rush of business during the next three weeks and in anticipation of the rush city treasurer has announced that his office will be open until six o'clock every day during January.

TWENTY MADISON SKATERS IN PERIL ON ICE FLOAT

Little Children Carried Out Into Lake and Rescued With Difficulty.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—The lives of twenty children were imperiled late Sunday afternoon when they were carried to the middle of Lake Monona on a huge floating cake of ice.

They had been skating on the lake all afternoon and had no inkling that they were in danger until a strong west wind at 5 o'clock broke up the ice on the city side of the shore.

Attracted by the cries of the children, some of whom were only 10 years old, Sidney P. Rundell, a merchant, went to their rescue in a row boat. He was joined by Carl Fauerbach, Louis Rodefeld and Dr. S. B. Boyce and shortly afterwards four boats plowed their way through the broken ice.

The rescue work was difficult, but the children behaved well and there was no casualty.

When the rescuers thought they had completed their task they observed a dark object in the middle of the lake. They rowed to the spot and there found four little tots huddled together.

Proof of Goodness.

He is a good man, who can receive a gift well.—Emerson.

The barometric depression that was reported a 72 mile wind this morning in western Canada last Saturday morning reached the Lake Region yesterday, and there increased in energy, and during the past twenty-four hours has been attended by snow and stormy winds throughout the Pacific Lake Region and the East. Buffalo map Sunday morning but the suspension of mails on Sunday prevented the usual widespread notice of its coming, and only those who are on the telephone list could be advised. It spent its strength so far as this vicinity is concerned. A great depression now approaching the Pacific coast promises rising temperature.

"The baptism of repentance was a baptism of humiliation," declared Rev. Elmer O. Hoffmeister in his sermon at the church yesterday morning. "I shall take my text this morning from the third chapter of St. Matthew, beginning with the thirteenth verse. Then cometh Jesus, from Galilee to Jordan unto John, to be baptized of him. But John forbade him, saying, I have need to be baptized of Thee, and comest Thou to me?"

The baptism of Jesus by John the Baptist is a model baptism. Jesus came to be the model man, to lead, to recover all sins, and to take the entire sin of the world on his back, for the purpose of making the world good, and that is therein. It is receiving sins that He was doing. John the baptizel for repentance. John recognized the Savior's blessing, for when Jesus came for baptism, John answered, "I have need to be baptized of Thee. Repentance is the first act of Jesus, and His baptism

Washington, D. C., June 12.—In spite of the fact that chocolate is easily varied and one of the few articles of diet which will "keep" almost indefinitely, the War Department has ordered its abolishment as an army ration.

The reason assigned for this action is a report made by Dr. C. F. Longworth, of the Department of Agriculture, who declared that the chocolate is "defective" as to digestibility. Soldiers have come to regard it as "too rich" for their diet and as "stomachy" when under arms. In the field, rations may be short.

Nothing of equal nutritious value has yet been called as easily has it been discarded.

It has been reported unfavorably on chocolate, but experiments are being made in which to find some substitute for it which possesses all of the advantages of chocolate, yet will not be deleterious to the health of the consumers, which chocolate is accord-

Janeville Moose Lodge Disapproves Secession Action of Milwaukee Branch.

If the Milwaukee Moose Lodge, number 1, expects that the Janeville lodge, number 197, will support them in their effort to shut out the supreme body from the state, they will be disappointed, as the local lodge has expressed dissatisfaction at the attitude of the Milwaukee members in their war against the national body. The Janeville lodge started agitation against the supreme rulers several months ago and last week actually operate under their own state charter. Steps have been taken to obtain recognition from the supreme body. The national lodge from Milwaukee, enjoining the national lodge from interfering with the Milwaukee men seek to shut out the supreme body from all power in this state, and will eventually undertake to bring twenty other lodges, which includes the Janeville lodge, to a state organization under a Wisconsin charter, severing all connections with the officials at Anderson, Wis., the supreme lodge headquarters.

As yet the divorced lodge has made no effort to seek aid from the local lodge, having trouble enough in trying to obtain recognition papers, and it is expected that the supreme body will be successful in the courts every state.

Digests all food. Absorbs gases, stops fermentation at once—Puts Stomach in order.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a regular, healthy condition, it will take what you just ate and digest it. But if you have indigestion, flatulency, belchings, your head dizzy and your stomach full of gas, you have indigestion; but gases and acids are eroded and undigested food, breath foul, tongue coated with taste. Pepp's Diapysin, taken in five minutes you will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapysin occasionally keeps the stomach regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember, the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pepp's for a large case, only fifty cents. It is a powerful, yet gentle, and truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is astonishing. Please don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach. It is a waste of time.

REBELLION OF KATHERINE

By DOROTHEA NOURGE.

Woodville, Sept. 16.—Dearest Gertrude: If I had lived a hundred years ago, I should at this moment be locked in my room, white and drooping with despair, and in time would languish away and die of a broken heart. However, I am a twentieth century girl and will break my heart over no one. What is more, I won't allow it to have the least little nick. To be more explicit, Jack and I have parted forever. I don't propose to lose my American independence for any man. If I am to be cooped up after I am married and never speak a pleasant word to any of the men I know, I won't marry, that's all. Naturally I did not want Jack to think I was pining for him, so I thought I would get a new gown or two, and have just as good a time as possible. I went to father. He asked me how much money I would need, and when I told him—a very reasonable sum, I assure you—his parental wrath was immediately kindled. Daughter Katherine was lectured accordingly. Among other pleasant things, he remarked that if I saw fit to break a desirable engagement without a shadow of an excuse, well and good, but after this I must economize, as he would no longer pay such enormous bills for me. That made me pretty mad, for I have not had a new dress this month. From that moment I made up my mind that I would be independent. It is not that I mind economizing, it's the spirit of the thing. If my father considers me a tax on his purse, I will remove myself.

I have decided to be a governess. One's life must be lived through somehow. Devotedly yours, KATH.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—My Dear Gertrude: You have no idea how your letter comforted and strengthened me. You see by the date that I am at Aunt Cora's. I came here so that I might meet the woman who wishes to employ me. This morning I went downtown to interview her. You would hardly have known the staid, dignified individual who meekly answered the hundred and one questions that it seemed necessary for madam to ask.

Finally she announced, in a cold, bargaining tone of voice: "I think you would suit me. You have a pleasing personality and that is quite an important thing with children." I wanted to box her ears. Pleasing personality, indeed! I suppose she thinks her lovely infants will absorb some of it. But I refrained from saying anything about my innermost feelings, and humbly begged leave to think it over for one night. Your affectionate friend, KATHERINE STANDISH WOLCOTT.

Woodville, Oct. 10.—Dear Old Gertrude: I must write immediately to tell you the sequel. The day after writing you, I looked pale and subdued enough to teach 50 children, for I wept oceans of tears that night. Just to the minute of the time I had agreed to give my answer, there was a ring at the bell, and the maid came up to tell me that a gentleman wished to see me. I mustered all my failing courage and descended to seal my fate. The reception room was so dark that I could hardly see where the man was standing, but I began my little speech without trying to see him. Before I had said more than "Good evening, Mr. —," he stepped quickly forward, drew me into his arms, pressed my head against his shoulder—there was something wonderfully familiar in the feel of those arms—and a voice I knew only too well, though it was husky with emotion, said: "Kitty, darling, how could you?"

"If Jack had not taken me so unaware, I should have had time to collect my wandering wits and be a little child, but as it was, I simply put my arms around and clung to him, sobbing as if my heart were broken instead of perfectly sound and whole."

Jack says they are going to have the finest collation of the season next week and, of course, I promised to dance it with him.

I must stop now, dearie, for I have an appointment at the dressmakers. As ever, your loving, KITTY.

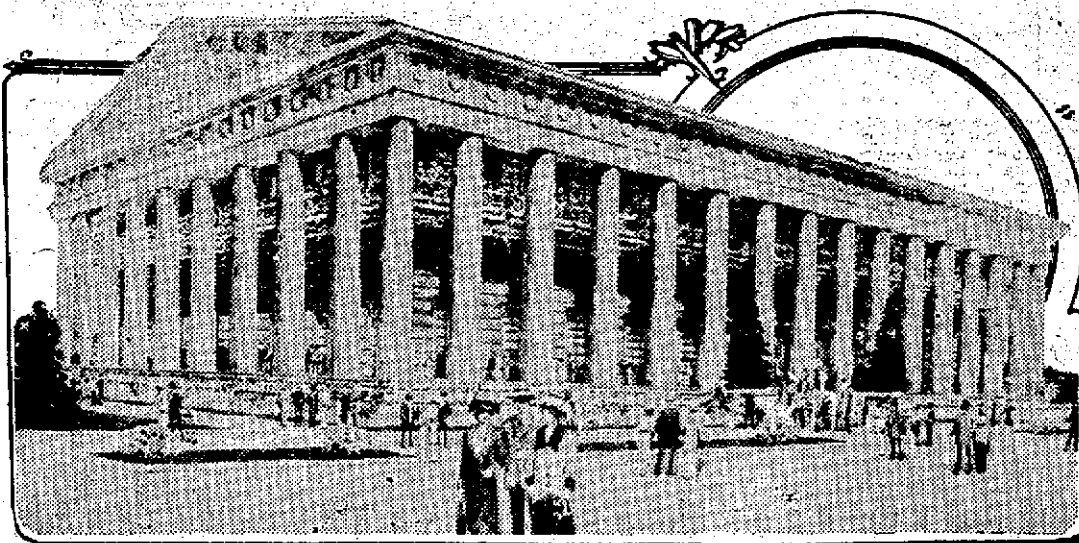

P. S.—Of course, you know you are to be my maid of honor.—K. W.

Chemical Rain. It has long been known that the dirty rain of every smoky region is a disastrous thing for vegetation. It now appears probable—or at least possible—that but slightly poisonous rains, such as occur over an ordinarily smoky city, may seriously injure fruits and flowers. J. W. Harshberger, of the University of Pennsylvania, suggests that the spots on leaves and fruit caused by the acidity of raindrops may serve as the points of entry of parasitic fungi. He says, "A fungus, which is stimulated to growth by an acid condition of the cell sap, would find ideal conditions for the commencement of growth by entering areas influenced by acid raindrops."—New York Evening Post.

Mere Film. "I suppose you are mamma's darling?" "No, ma'am, I am my mamma's moving picture." "Your mamma's moving picture?" "Yessum, she is always telling me that I should be seen and not heard."—Houston Post.

BEAUTIFUL BUILDINGS OF PANAMA EXPO TO BE COMPLETED IN 1914

Among the most beautiful buildings at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco in 1915 will be the Oregon state building and Machinery Hall. The latter is now more than two-thirds completed. The structure will be 968x268 feet and will be decorated with more than a mile and a half of ornamental cornices. The architectural design of the building is based upon the Roman arch motif, prototypes of which may be found in the big Roman baths of Hadrian and Caracalla.

Oregon has accepted the design of a beautiful building modelled on the classic lines of Ictinus, Parthenon. No graven image of an Athenian goddess will grace Oregon's modern temple, but her fruits, her flowers, her products of forest, plain and river will convert Oregon's state building into a temple of plenty and wealth.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

"PAINLESS VIRTUE."

There's a certain big city in the United States which was, notorious some years ago for the badness of its government. Almost every form of vice flourished there without let or hindrance, and the city officials and the police were "in on the graft."

Now it is reformed, but some of the old badness remains.

In this city are some of the oldest families in America. They—and especially their women folk—pride themselves on their social standing, their ancestry, their descent from fine, God-fearing stock.

Recently the mayor of this city, elected on a reform platform, decided to try to do away with some of the remnants of the old vicious conditions. He wanted to reform his city again.

He made an appeal for assistance to the "first families." In some quarters he met with encouragement, of course, but in others—

Well, it is said he "found that the first families are willing to have the town reformed if it can be done without inconvenience to them."

A newspaper—not of the city in question—commenting on this fact, heads its item "Painless Virtue."

"Would you reform your city or your family or your life?"

Do not try to do it in the "painless virtue" way. It cannot be done.

Results are not achieved without effort. Effort means striving and striving means pain. In the sweat of man's brow shall he eat bread, and in the same sweat, strengthened and concentrated, shall he achieve virtue. There is no royal road to reform any more than there is to learning.

In great affairs, as in little, the lesson is the same. You must work for what you want; you must be willing to inconvenience yourself and be inconvenienced.

Herein lies the real obstacle to the coming of the millennium.

Friend neighbor and his wife, you are willing to let others work for civic righteousness. You are fond of declaiming against the political evils of the day. If you live in a large city you are prone to talk about the "bosses" and how they misgovern your city.

But how much do you do to fight them? How much are you willing to inconvenience yourself for good government?

NAPLES

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

NAPLES is the Cinderella of history. For centuries she has sat, dirty and neglected by society, in the ashes at the foot of Vesuvius, while Rome and Florence, her rich and powerful sisters, have strutted regally through literature, getting all the headlines and entertaining royalty in vast doses. Naples is 2,500 years old, and has done the housework for the family in all this time, while Rome has enjoyed herself. In all these 2,500 years Naples hasn't had enough fun to occupy two pages of history. But the fairy godmother is now helping her out. She has cleaned her up, decorated her and has called attention through the steamboat literature and a few kind-hearted poets, to Pompeii, the Bay of Naples and other well known points of interest. In consequence, shiploads of tourists arrive in Naples every week, and she is getting into society at last.

There was once a saying "See Naples and die." This is no longer necessary, because some years ago the city built a new water works and sewer system, thus driving out cholera and ruining several undertakers. The city is now healthy, but it can still be detected at a great distance with the eyes shut, particularly in warm weather. The street cleaning department is always a year or two behind in Naples.

Naples puts its best foot forward, like Chicago and Rio Janeiro, which are most beautiful from the water front. The Bay of Naples is one of the world's largest works of art, and the city begins, six stories high, at the water's edge. The rich live in palaces, hotels and villas in Naples, and the poor live in a peculiar home-made sort of skyscraper six or eight stories high, and so densely populated with people that there is scarcely room for the classic and ubiquitous Italian flea. The streets which run between these skyscrapers are so narrow, that one mess of garlic, being cooked for dinner, is able to flavor the houses on both sides.

Naples has 600,000 people, most of whom are saving up to move to America. Its chief industries are manufacturing, gold mining among tourists and producing organ grinders and black hand leaders for export. It is very beautiful in spots, and is so earnestly enlarging the spots that it may yet be able to patronize Florence and Naples.

Use Oxygen for Bleating.

Experiments are being conducted in Germany to discover the usability of liquid air and liquid oxygen as explosives for mines, says the Coal Age. The liquid oxygen is mixed with aluminum powder and detonated, producing a force 2½ times that produced by black powder. One advantage that it possesses is that no bad fumes are produced.

Sometimes it is. Dick, whose father was a candidate for office, one day ran to his mother, exclaiming: "Oh, mamma! Mr. Smith says papa's got the nomination. Is that worse than the measles?"

AFTER MEASLES Whooping-Cough or Scarlet Fever

is a critical period—weakened throats, delicate bronchial tubes and unsteady lungs often follow; sometimes impaired sight or hearing.

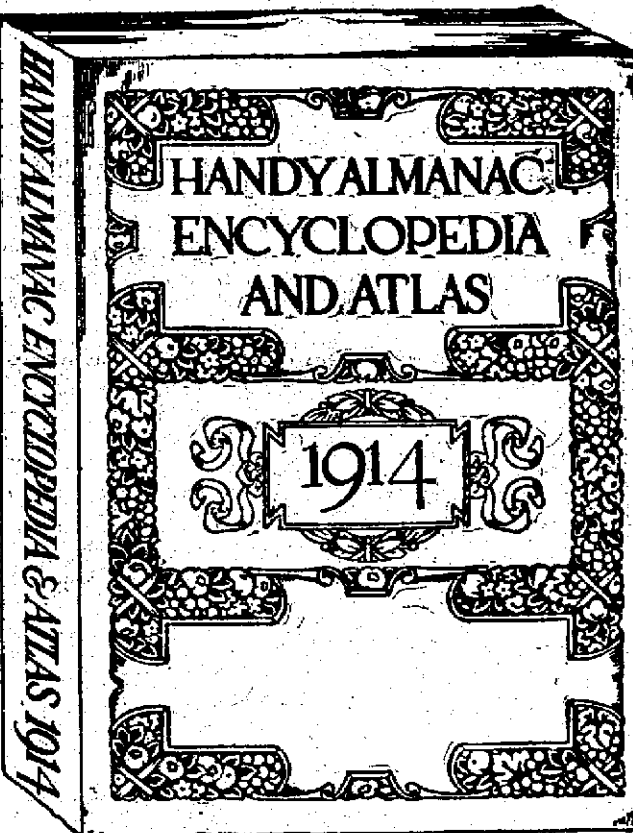

But if SCOTT'S EMULSION is taken promptly and regularly after the fever subsides it quickly restores pure blood and strengthens the lungs. Its nourishing force restores appetite, strength and energy.

SCOTT'S EMULSION contains just the elements nature requires to restore sound health; it is totally free from alcohol or harmful drugs. Children relish it.

Classified Want Ad?

"I have looked this blame town over for a hired man, and I can't find one. Don't tell me that men are wanting work, I'm from Missouri!" said one farmer to another at the Farmer's Rest the other forenoon.

"Ah, you're not from Missouri! You're green," said the man addressed. "What you want to do when you are in need of help nowadays is to advertise—run your appeal in the want ad page. You'll get your hired man all right. Trouble will be as to who to pick from the applicants. I've relied on the want ad page for years to supply me with men, and have yet to be disappointed," said the farmer who was listening to his neighbor's complaint.

"If they can fit you out, they can me; here goes for a call at the Office," said the first speaker, with a relieved look upon his face.

What is a Week-End?
What, or rather when, is a "week-end"? An English court has had to determine the meaning of the phrase. A man brought a reduced rate "week-end" ticket on Friday and when he sought to return Saturday night was told that he would have to pay full fare, as the special ticket would be good only on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The man sued the company for the excess fare charged him and won his case.

Broadway Jones

From the Play of
George M. Cohan

By
EDWARD MARSHALL

With Photographs from Scenes in the Play

Copyright, 1913, by G. W. Dillingham Company

Broadway took the telephone receiver from his butler's hand and cried into the mouthpiece: "Hello! Is that you, Robert Wallace? . . . Well, this is Jackson Jones. . . . Yes, the same you met in Jonesville when they pinched you, that reckless night when you were driving at four miles an hour. . . . No, I've come down to stay. I'm asking you to dine with me tomorrow evening. . . . Can you come? . . . Good. I'll telephone again, or have my butler telephone, and let you know just where. . . . All right. Fine! . . . Goodbye."

Robert Wallace was his guide, his mentor and his friend for some four weeks. After that he was his friend and mentor, but resigned as guide, for Broadway took the reins. He had a passion and a genius for investigating metropolitan affairs of lightest nature. The business marts of Gotham were offensive to him. He thought it silly for mankind to waste its time in work and said so. The teeming fascination of the far sides of the town, so dear to sociologists who love human nature best after it has sweated or suffered off its varnish, found no devotee in him; he could not understand why entire families should live in huddled rooms on Essex street when there were large apartments vacant in the great hotel flat house next door to the vast mansion inhabited by Mrs. Jack Gerard on Seventy-second street. Mrs. Jack Gerard was an old lady of incredible wealth, who tried to hold Time's hand in pause. That she had failed had been no fault of hers or of the beauty parlors or cosmetic makers. "They would be so much more comfortable if they would go where they would have more room," Jackson continued, in further comment on the very poor, and would not listen to the earnest soul which tried to offer explanations.

A year passed. Broadway carried three bank accounts, two of them not very large and seldom checked upon. The third was in New York's all-night bank. He kept busy. "I feel as if I ought to see the sun rise often," he explained. "Sunrises are so beautiful."

He seldom heard from Jonesville in these days. Judge Spotswood sometimes wrote to him, his uncle never. For a time he had endeavored to keep up a correspondence with the girls, but this had languished through his own exceeding occupation at more pressing matters and Jessie Richards' sorrowful conviction that he did not tell her in his brief, infrequent letters, about all the girls whom he was meeting in New York.

His first shock came when the All-Night bank wrote him a letter, asking him to call and talk of his account, and he did not occur until four years had vanished in the haze of Broadway's nights. It made him sit straight in his chair and blink as a cold dash from a seltzer bottle sometimes had when he had needed it. Rankin, entering, asked him if he had a pain.

"You bet I have," said he. "And I'm afraid it's serious."

"Shall I call a doctor, sir?"

"No, call a banker."

surprised at his return to the apartment at that hour, he snarled at him. "Go to the devil, Rankin!" he suggested when he lingered.

"Yes, sir; thank you, sir," said Rankin and withdrew.

He reached the kitchen with a face so troubled that the Japanese boy, who had sought domestic service here with (judging from his wages) the commendable intention of patriotically sending home, each year, enough American money to build a warship for his nation's navy, showed interest.

"Wat iss matturr, Ranken?" the sympathetic Oriental queried.

"I know men," said Rankin, "and if I didn't know that Mr. Jones is really a millionaire—made it out of chewing gum, his family, I'm told—I should say he was hard up."

The Japanese boy stared politely; he did not understand at all.

"Of course he's not hard up," Rankin continued. "No hard-up man could have sworn at me as he did just now. It can't be money, so it must be women."

"Limmin," said the Japanese, who had not mastered w's.

"Lemons," Rankin granted. "You're almost right. I never saw a man more popular. He spends his money like he didn't care for it, and does it well because that is the fact. He doesn't care for it. I never saw a human being who cared less. Why, he never counts the money on his dresser in the morning. Just throws it there when he gets into bed, and—"

The Japanese laughed merrily. "You gettin' litch!"

"No, you little heathen; I only know he does it, that is all. I stack it up for him. Sometimes he throws it all about—that and his clothes and furniture. He's often merry that way. He threw me about one night. A fine, strong youth! I thought it better not to say much till he went to sleep, and then, as I crawled out from under the bed, I had a chance to see his arm. Quite muscular it is—just as it felt when he was joking with me."

The next day, by chance, while visiting the kitchen, Rankin had a sudden inspiration. "I wonder if he is in love?" he pondered. "That Mr. Henriot that I attended just before he married that grass widow was as absent-minded—oh, quite absent-minded, quite! Now, which one—"

Rankin suddenly came to a stand in horror. Even to the small and very yellow cook it was plain that tragic thoughts had flashed into his mind.

"I wonder," he soliloquized if it could possibly be that terrible Gerard old woman. She had her eye on him ever since the first night that she got a glimpse of him.

"But it was strong enough to stand a terrible strath."

"Not quite strong enough to stand without a protest the strain to which you have subjected it, Mr. Jones. It's not exhausted, but it's—"

"Getting tired?" Broadway himself supplied the words.

"About that. You have not been having it written up, you know; I thought perhaps you didn't realize the figures. I've had them all made out for you."

Broadway took one swift look at them, then sank back in his chair and took a longer look at them. "Well, I'll be—!" he ventured.

"I was afraid you'd feel that way. I only thought you ought to have a hint of just how things are running. Young men lose track of things some times. I've known it to occur before."

"Jackson scarcely saw Broadway when he went out of the gray building, and it was the first time he had ever trodden Broadway without seeing and admiring it."

"Hello, Broadway!" cried a merry voice from just beyond the curb. It was a blonde voice, and issued from a natty little motor car with a sedan chair top. Broadway had bought that motor car and given it to the blonde voice. "Let me put you down somewhere?"

"I'm not feeling very fit. You might take me to the morgue."

"Jump in, we'll make it the Knickerbocker."

But the Knickerbocker had no charms for Broadway at that moment. He made his stay as brief as possible in the bright restaurant.

"Dollie, darling," he said gloomily, "I don't need a restaurant, today; I need a hospital. How would you like me, Dollie, honestly, if I was broke?"

"You? Broke?" She laughed. "No, seriously. How would you like me?"

"It's nonsense, but you know what Shanley does to broken dishes."

"The ash can, Eh?"

"I wouldn't be, for you, of course; but what's the use of being Mr. Grumpy? Brace up? Come on up to Churchill's and we'll drinky-drink it out."

But Broadway would have none of such a plan as that. He went to his apartment, and, rummaging in every drawer and pocket, collected every bill which he could find. There were a hundred of them, ranging in all sorts of figures and for all sorts of articles, from diamonds to gasolines, from charity to fairs. The arrival of the sympathetic Rankin, who believed his master had a headache, with a note from Mrs. Gerard, interrupted the bookkeeping which, for the first time in his life, Broadway had begun. It had not been encouraging, as far as he had gone.

He read the note and found it to be an invitation. Deciding to accept it, he decided, also, that it must be the last one of the sort he must accept. It had become intensely plain to him that now had come the time when he must cease his gaieties and find more money.

He was a gloomy figure at the feast that night, and his gloom grew with every aged smile which Mrs. Gerard cast in his direction. It was plain enough to him, to everyone, that this exceedingly rich lady, of uncertain age, regarded him with very friendly eyes. She even sometimes called him "Jackson."

After the dinner he took Robert Wallace downtown with him in his sixty-horsepower touring car.

"Mrs. Gerard," he ventured, "seems a well-preserved old—or I mean that she seems well preserved."

"Well, cannot you mean," said Wallace. "But too much chemical preservative in females is as dangerous as it is in food. How did we happen to go there tonight? You roped me into that. Broadway. You didn't tell me."

where you meant to take me. You merely said we'd go to dinner with some friends of yours."

"Well, she's a friend of mine. Broadway defended rather hotly. An idea, so terrible that it was fascinating, had occurred to him.

"She might have gone to school with your grandmother. It makes me sick to see her ogle you. I think she wants to marry you."

Broadway burst into a laugh which he was well aware was quite too loud, too cackly and too hollow; he feared acutely that his friend would recognize its falseness.

"To marry me! Ho, ho!" Instantly his manner changed. "But I don't like the way you speak about her, Bob. Remember—we have just enjoyed her hospitality."

"Enjoyed it! Speak for yourself, old man! If I had known where you were going, do you suppose I would have gone with you? I can meet grandmother's schoolmates at the Old Ladies' home. I don't have to go to dinner with them."

"Now, Bob!"

Wallace burst into a laugh. "I believe it's pure charity," he guessed. "You are trying to make others happy. You smile on her as you would throw a dollar into a Salvation Army cash pot around Christmas time."

"The hen never done it. God done it."

A Scotchman, wishing to know his fate at once, telegraphed a proposal of marriage to the lady of his choice. After spending the entire day at the telegraph office, he was finally rewarded late in the evening by an affirmative answer.

"If I were you," suggested the operator, "I'd think twice before I'd marry a girl that kept me waiting all day for my answer."

"Na, na," retorted the Scot. "The lass wha waits for the night rates is the lass for me."

Timkins' Little Joke.

Mr. Spriggs, who was very self-important, made an absurd offer for Mr. Timkins' extra lot in East Orange. He allowed a day for Mr. Timkins to think it over; then called again. "Did you entertain my proposition?" he asked. "No," said Mr. Timkins. "Your proposition entertained me."—New York Evening Post.

"Now, Bob!"

Wallace burst into a laugh. "I believe it's pure charity," he guessed. "You are trying to make others happy. You smile on her as you would throw a dollar into a Salvation Army cash pot around Christmas time."

"Bob, I'm thinking about getting married."

His friend sat straight and looked at him in dumb amazement for a second. "Married? And is grandma in some way related to the bride who may be?"

"Bob, I need—"

He stopped. Almost he had told his friend he needed money; but he had not the courage. To confess poverty on Broadway is like confessing murder in a church.

"Need what?"

"A rest. I'm going to—er—take some sort of a vacation. Don't know what. Maybe back to the old home. Anyway, you won't see me around for quite a little while."

"Never mind, old chap! I'll tell them all that you have had to go away on business. Go somewhere and get straightened out. You need it. There's something wrong with you, or you would never have gone to that dinner where that ancient marines could ogle you the way she did."

FOR DELICATE CHILDREN

A Mother's Letter to Mothers.

Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Bloomfield, N. J., says: "My child, seven years old, had a bad cold and was weak and quite run down in health. She had been in this condition for about six weeks when I began giving her Vinol. It was a wonderful help to the child, breaking up her cold quickly and building up her strength beside."

I have also found Vinol a most excellent tonic for keeping up the children's strength during a siege of whooping cough."

Vinol is a wonderful combination of two world-famed tonics—the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil and iron for the blood, therefore it is a perfectly safe medicine for children, because it is not a patent medicine, everything in it is printed on every package, so mothers may know what they are giving their little ones.
